MISI Moves to Integrate and Realign Indonesian Service Center Operations

Marubeni-Itochu Steel Inc. (MISI; headquartered in Chuo Ward, Tokyo; Tatsuhiko Toshita, president and CEO) is pleased to announce that it has launched a strategic push this month to strengthen the foundation of its steel product processing business in Indonesia. The core vision behind this move calls for the two MISI service center subsidiaries in that nation—PT. United Steel Center Indonesia (USC) and PT. Posmi Steel Indonesia—to be merged and realigned. USC is being retained as the surviving company, becoming a new wholly owned corporate entity.

MISI considers Indonesia to be a pivotal market in its overall global business scheme. The newly aligned USC will be better able to meet processing demands spanning all varieties of steel products, significantly expanding the scope of services and functions we supply to our customers in Indonesia.
